

Assistant Professor of Computer Science

Job Description

DIVISION/DEPARTMENT: Division of Science and Mathematics

DATE TO BE FILLED: Immediately

SALARY: Commensurate with Experience

SUMMARY

The Division of Science and Mathematics at Rust College is seeking an Assistant Professor of Computer Science to teach undergraduate courses with a focus on teaching and research, particularly in cybersecurity and data science (75% instruction, 25% research). The ideal candidate should be capable of teaching core courses in the computer science and cybersecurity curriculum, with a preference for those able to teach advanced courses in these areas. This is a full-time, nine-month faculty position, where the selected candidate will be responsible for teaching up to 12 hours per semester, with a maximum of 15 hours. Additional responsibilities include course development, academic advising, conducting scholarly research, and contributing to college service.

QUALIFICATIONS

The qualifications for the position include a Ph.D. in Computer Science or a related field, a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate computer science education and research, and preferably, prior teaching experience.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

The Federal Government requires that every individual hired since May 31, 1987, complete the I-9. This requirement is in response to the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Form I-9 has been developed to verify that persons are eligible to work in the United States.
